DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement filed 26 June 2002 has been considered and made of record.

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to because when only a single figure is contained in the application, it should be referred to a "the figure" and not numbered. The current figure is identified as "Figure 1". A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

4. Claims 1-5 and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Pearl et al.(US 2002/0182184).

Art Unit: 1744

The reference of Pearl et al. discloses a composition and method of use for ridding a surface or fabric of allergens. The composition employs spores of Bacillus. Specifically the composition includes Bacillus amyloliquefaciens, Bacillus licheniformis, and Bacillus megaterium. The composition is applied to a surface including hard surfaces and carpet fabric for at least a 24 hour period (See Example 4).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. Claims 6-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Pearl et al.(US 2002/0182184).

The reference of Pearl et al. has been discussed above.

The above claims differ by specifically reciting the amounts of bacterial spores employed in the treatment composition.

However based merely on the potential types of allergens that may be present on the surface to be treated and in the absence of a showing of criticality and/or unexpected results, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to determine the optimum number of spores to employ in the treatment composition while ensuring that the specific types of allergens present on the surface to be treated are neutralized by the treatment composition.

With respect to claim 8, the reference of Pearl et al. discloses that the use of a fragrance in the composition is known (See Example 1) and would be obvious for the known and expected result of neutralizing any foul odor molecules that may be present on the surface to be treated.
